Re: PFAS Statement

Dear Sir/Madam:

At SAGE Millimeter, Inc. d/b/a Eravant, we are committed to maintaining the highest standards of safety and environmental responsibility in our manufacturing processes. We recognize the growing concern around Per- and Polyfluoroalkyl Substances (PFAS) and their impact on health and the environment.

Our Stance on PFAS

To the best of our knowledge, PFAS are not used in any of our manufacturing processes or products. While these substances are prevalent in various industries, they do not play a role in our operations. However, we are proactive in our approach and are committed to minimizing and seeking alternatives should PFAS become relevant in any future developments.

Customer Communication

We understand that transparency is essential, and we encourage our customers and stakeholders to reach out with any questions or concerns regarding PFAS in our products. Our dedicated team is available at support@eravant.com to address any inquiries.

Conclusion

Our team will continue to monitor developments related to PFAS and ensure that our practices align with the best interests of our customers, employees, and the environment. Thank you for your trust in our commitment to safety and responsibility.

Sincerely,

Wendy Shu
CEO
